

科目コード／科目名 (Course Code / Course Title)	EX588／法学基礎演習 (Introductory Seminar on Law)
テーマ／サブタイトル等 (Theme / Subtitle)	Law in Everyday Life 2
担当者名 (Instructor)	マシヤド Y. (MACHADO Y. DANIEL)
学期 (Semester)	秋学期(Fall Semester)	単位 (Credit)	2単位(2 Credits)
科目ナンバリング (Course Number)	LPX2911	言語 (Language)	英語 (English)
備考 (Notes)	その他登録

授業の目標 (Course Objectives)

The objective of this seminar is to explore the many ways the law influence our everyday life.

授業の内容 (Course Contents)

The course is divided into three parts. First, we consider wrongdoings and compensation. Then we survey the nature of marriage and parenthood. Finally, we explore the structure of inheritance laws and wills. Students will be asked questions every class and participate in a few case study exercises related to each part of the course. Note that this course is a sequel to Law in Everyday Life 1 (EX587) but students are not required to take both courses, which are introductions to distinct legal issues.

授業計画 (Course Schedule)

1. What is a wrongdoing?
2. Shoplifting
3. Bicycle accident
4. Defamation
5. Exercise 1 (Bullying)
6. Dating and living together
7. Marriage
8. Parent's permission
9. Paternity
10. Exercise 2 (Infidelity)
11. How to make a will
12. When there is no will
13. Exercise 3 (will contest)
14. Student presentations

授業時間外(予習・復習等)の学習 (Study Required Outside of Class)

Students will be given book chapters and materials to read before every class. Preparation should take around one hour depending on your English reading skills.

成績評価方法・基準 (Evaluation)

最終レポート(Final Report)(40%)/Attendance and participation(60%)

テキスト (Textbooks)

All materials discussed in class will be made available in advance or distributed in class.

参考文献 (Readings)

その他 (HP 等) (Others (e.g. HP))

Admission Policy

Number of students: 25

Eligibility: first-year students

Selection method: Essay

1. Topic: Why am I interested in this seminar?

2. Word limit: 1000

注意事項 (Notice)